Re: Bayshore Towers paint and roofing project

Dear Bert:

Just wanted to let you know how the 1996 paint job on our concrete building is holding up. As of today, only small amounts of mold or mildew have managed to build up, despite our building being close to the ocean. Aside from that, we have not observed any failure of your Durafinish ceramic paint and it appears to be holding up quite well. Adhesion is excellent, probably due in part to the Clearprime primer that was first applied.

The roof was coated in 1996. Your Elastoprime roof primer was used followed by application of your Thermcote-APW5 roof coating. To date these coatings have performed excellently as expected, considering that we have a flat roof with some ponding water.

We highly recommend your products.
